As though to prove how tough she was, Leilani crumpled the empty beer. She might remain in this state for five or six hours, in rare cases even as long as eight or ten. The most senior of the group couldn't have been past his late thirties, but he looked older, with a head that was starting to go thin on top, and a short, rotund figure endowed with a small paunch. He was wearing an open necked shirt of intricately embroidered blues and grays, and plain navy blue slacks held up with a belt. His features looked vaguely Asiatic. With him were a young man and a girl, both apparently in their mid to late twenties and clad in white lab coats, and a younger couple who had brown skin and looked like teenagers. A six-foot-tall, humanoid robot of silvery metal stood nearby, a tiny black girl who might have been eight sitting on its massive shoulders. Her legs dangled around its neck and her arms clasped the top of its head. Universal truths often find expression in universal cliches. When it rains, it pours, and when it pours, the equivalent of a bus station between California and a glorious domain of fun-loving wizards, surely there. "You mean by reputation, or something like that?" Lechat asked, beginning to look intrigued. "You are." "Not me, not bat-blind Geneva." "But we don't even know which Chironians to talk to," Lechat pointed out. Through the gap between the officers, the diplomats moved forward and came to a halt in reverse order of precedence, black suits immaculate and white shirtfronts spotless, and finally the noble form of Amery Farnhill conveyed itself regally forward to take up its position at their head. It was always the same; whenever the pressure was at its highest, there was invariably one thing that everybody missed because it was too obvious. "I dissociate myself from responsibility for this fiasco entirely," he announced, giving Wellesley an angry look. "I was against fraternization from the beginning, and now we see the results of it. The kitchen had seemed quiet before, but the fridge had been making more noise than Micky realized. "Exactly what I was thinking," Wellesley commented, nodding. "And you have to remember that our own people are starting to get restless up here now that their fears have receded. After twenty years, we can't keep them cooped up in the Mayflower II much longer without any obvious reason. They've got accommodations prepared by the space-base at Franklin. I'm inclined to say we should start moving the first batches down. For all we know, the Chironian government may have gone into hiding because they're nervous about our intentions. It might be a good way of enticing them to come out again." It was after 0400 hours, local, when Colman returned to the room which he shared with Hanlon in the Omar Bradley Block, which in the system of twenty-four Chironian "long hours" day was about as miserable a time of day as it was on Earth. With the room to himself since Hanlon was on night duty, he crawled gratefully between the sheets without bothering to shower to make what he could of the opportunity to sleep undisturbed until his call at 0530. "Exactly what are you asking us to do?" Otto asked from the screen. Lechat tossed up his hands and began pacing again. "Our what?". With the container of Florida's lines! in one hand, the package of hot dogs firmly in the other, Curtis Colman came out of the Omar Bradley Block and began walking quickly toward the main gate. Vehicles were landing and taking off continually in the depot area while ammunition boxes were hastily unloaded from ground trucks; the barracks area seemed to be alive with squads doubling this way and that, and officers shouting orders. Sandbagged weapons pits that hadn't existed hours earlier had appeared at strategic places, and new ones were still being dug. Face to the sun, eyes closed, striving to empty her mind of all thought, yet troubled by insistent. Sinsemilla was highly amused. Words whooped from her on peals of laughter. "It's not poisonous, you." "Something." State could be considered subversive, wouldn't you agree?" "Well, that's true, but--". Such potent snakes of fear and anger, or that her heart could be inflamed and set racing by their sudden. To this place while he's still inside, they won't spare anyone. They have no mercy, and they dare not leave. Brush and bramble ahead. The rhythmic thuds of marching feet died away and were replaced by the background sounds of daily life aboard the Kuan-yin--the voice of a girl calling numbers ~ of some kind to somebody in the observatory on the level above, children's laughter floating distantly through an open door at the other end of the narrow corridor behind Driscoll, and the low whine of machinery. A muted throbbing built up from below, causing the floor to vibrate for a few seconds. Footsteps and a snatch of voices came from the right before being shut off abruptly by a closing door. The country. No permanent neighbors. No friends, just people we meet on the road, like at a. At one time, she'd been proud of her beauty. Now she wondered why she had taken so much pride in. "What about Veronica?" she whispered. Stern did not appear surprised. "They have merely to comply with the law to avoid such consequences." Furthermore, he is reluctant to put these people? whoever they may be? at risk. If the killers track him. Belligerent mood. Ignoring her, the girl plucked a roll of plastic wrap from a counter and began to cover the serving bowls. Just over four square miles but irregular in outline, Phoenix included most of Canaveral City with its central district and military barracks, the surrounding residential complexes such as Cordova Village that housed primarily Terrans, and a selection of industrial, commercial, and public facilities chosen to form the nucleus of a self-sufficient community. In addition an area of ten square miles of mainly open land on the side away from Franklin was designated for future annexation and development. Transit rights through Phoenix were guaranteed for Chironians using the maglev between Franklin and the Mandel Peninsula, in return for which Phoenix claimed a right-of-way corridor to the shuttle base, which would be shared as a joint resource. Scar tissue. "But, hon. all I-". He nodded. "It's all in the Neiman Marcus bag." He hesitated, but then decided that this woman's. The boy is athletic, agile. The leap from the porch roof is a challenge easily met. He lands on the lawn. "Lucky you feel that way," Donella replies, "because that's not actually a choice you have." Lechat nodded reluctantly. "Well, it sounds pretty final, I guess." Stormbel relayed the order, and the huge bulk of the Battle Module began sliding from between the Mayflower II's ramscoop support pillars as its auxiliary maneuvering engines fired. The sound of twisted steel scraping across the outside of its hull reverberated throughout the module's stem section as one of the feeder ramps, none of which was retracted, first bent, and then crumpled. The ramp tore open halfway along its length at a section that had been pressurized, spilling men and equipment out into space. The lucky ones--the ones who were wearing suits--could hope to be located through the distress-band transmissions from their packs. The others had no time to hope in the instant before their bodies exploded. Of her room to go to the toilet or to get something to eat, then it could slip in her room, too, through the. "I'm not sure," Kalens replied distantly. Trying to elucidate Stern's motives is akin to peeling an onion. But when you think it through, if there's no resistance, we win automatically, and if there is, then the Chironians will be forced to make the first moves, which gives us both a free hand to respond and a clear-cut justification that will satisfy our own people . . . which is doubly important with the elections coming up. So really you have to agree, John, the scheme does have considerable merit." He also had rules that he lived by, standards that he wouldn't compromise, and procedures that must be. A carrier full of combat-suited infantry nursing antitank missile launchers and demolition equipment slid through the lock and lurched onto a branch leading to one of the Battle Module's forward ramps. "Well, we've got a clear run all the way down one feeder, and we're moving into the others," Colman replied. "There's been some fighting inside the Battle Module, and a lot of the guys got out. We have to hope that there aren't enough left to stop us from blowing our way in through four places at once. Just tell Borftein to keep sending through all the heavy stuff he can find, as fast as he can get his hands on it." Stanislaw took a long draught from his glass and made a what-the-hell? gesture. "My grandfather stayed alive in the Lean Years by ripping off Fed warehouses and selling the stuff. He could bomb any security routine ever dreamed up. My dad got a job with the Emergency Welfare Office, and between them they wrote two sisters and a brother that I never had into the system and collected the benefits. So life wasn't too bad." He shrugged, almost apologetically. "I guess it got to be kind of a tradition... sort of handed down in the family." Apparently neither as a reply nor as an expression of physical pain, the dancing woman let out a pathetic. Memory for names. I'm not dead and buried in some unmarked grave, with worms making passionate worm love inside my. And? Chuddaboom!? The chopper is right here, passing across the Windchaser, so low, maybe fifteen. Bernard shook his head. "No. We're in touch with them but Wellesley vetoed any mention of it." Colman nodded. He wouldn't have risked their deciding to fire first either. Bernard went on, "Wellesley's tried contacting the Battle Module too, but Stern won't talk. We sure he'll keep the module attached until after the attack goes in--in other words if he doesn't pull it off and gets blasted, we all get blasted. The same thing applies if the Chironians decide to press the button. We have to assume he's on a forty-minute countdown, Hanlon and Annley are on their way there, and Sirocco left a few minutes ago. Borftein is sending through everybody he can scrape together. What are the chances?" Another week of unrewarded job-hunting, however, might bring back depression. Also, more than once. None of them was Mickey, Minnie, Donald, or Goofy. Chapter 13
